Every Adventure Woman knows there comes a time when she has to leave the comfortable confines of her home and office and go out - adventuring into the wild! So, our Adventure Woman Headquarters will be closed until September 24th. However, please stop by Basecamp, and stay as long as you like.

The spirit of Adventure Woman is dreaming up new adventures and then daring to do them. We take great pride in profiling women who embrace the passion for adventure and the dedication to follow their dreams. Congratulations goes to Megan Esmonde who just completed her first Ironman and Sara Brandenburg who just became the youngest person to get a Grand Slam in North American Sheep Hunting (See them both on Post Your Support). After celebrating their achievements both women have set new and bigger goals. Good luck!

Ruby Rideout (Adventure Interview) and Yvonne Pierre (Book Review) were recently featured on Adventure Woman Radio. Ruby is planning a year-long trek to Third World countries for a photography book project and Yvonne is contemplating turning her books into films. Gotta love women who aren't afraid to 'Dream Big.' Go, get 'em girls!

As we turn the corner into our second year we'd like to thank Kelsey-Laine Designs for their fantastic work in creating the Adventure Woman brand. We would be lost (even with a compass and GPS) without the great artistic vision and spirit for adventure the company brings to Adventure Woman. Thank you, Kelsey and crew!
