Ed. 2, No. 3

We are thrilled to deliver our third Adventure News Flash of 2010. We have four new amazing REAL Adventure Women being inducted this edition. Amy Layton pioneered a hunting lodge and retreat for wounded soldiers. Rachael Scdoris is the first blind musher to finish the grueling Iditarod Dog Race. Carin Kiphart is an adventuress who is on a journey to climb the Seven Summits and dive the Big Seven. Rebecca Francis holds the title of 'Extreme Huntress' and has bow hunted big game around the world.

Holly Heideman and Brigett Tuller each teach a class for Adventure Woman University. Holly, an expert equestrian, gives solid advice for barrel racing, and Brigett, a Black Belt, offers valuable and important safety tips. Both articles are interesting, educational and may save your life.

Nina Walz is a woman who didn't become an artist but was born one. Read this inspiring Interview with a self-employed artist who has successfully pursued her childhood dream of being a potter. Do you want to be an artist? Read this interview to find out what it really takes.

In the spirit of the Olympics we are highlighting their Grecian roots. Read our Adventure How! and learn the Seven 'Must-
